Claims to Have Done More for the Miners Than Mitchell Did, and What He Has Done May Be Apparent Later-Better Business Conditions in Sight.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., April 24 .- Anthracite operators throughout the coal region are very well satisfied with the prospects of peace on the terms which there is new no doubt that the mine workers will be glad to accept. Most of them have believed ever since negotiations were started that the mine workers' landers would never allow the situation to go as far as a strike, a lockout or reduction in wages, but would be glad to come to terms before the crisis was reached.

Many of them believed that the whole cuestion hinged upon whether President Lewis could gain more for the mine workers than former President John Mitchell gained for them three years ago. Lewis has done that and he is very well satisfied with it. Mitchell was obliged to accept a renewal of the three year agreement niter six weeks suspension three years ago, with no changes in it, and the conditions that existed in the previous three years were renewed.

Starting with a demand for recognition of the union, President Lewis, it is said. determined to go as far as he could possibly go without danger of the operators taking radical action, in an effort to gain some concessions, however small, for the mine workers which Mitchell could not gain, and it is said that he now believes, having obtained the concessions offered by the operators, that he has established himself firmly in the good graces of the anthracite mine workers and has paved the way for a campaign for strengthening the union with the object of making a determined fight for recognition of the union and for concessions three years town now if he is still at the head of the United Mine Workers of America.

There has long been bitter enmity between Lewis and Mitchell. Lewis seldom some concessions, however small, for the United Mine Workers of America.

The concession of chief importance to the mine workers, the adjustment by the conciliation board of prices for new work, what the operators offered when the negotiations ended so abruptly early in April, and the terms of the agreement proposed by them, it is said, will comprise little in addition to this which of real importance to the men. But is enough to satisfy Lewis's ambition of being able to claim that he has gained something for the mine workers and he is expected to recommend heartly the adoption of the proposal. That the dis-tricl officials and the members of the ex-ecutive boards will back him up there is no doubt, and there is also no doubt of the mine workers' delegates voting to accept the proposal and have the agree-

Settlement With the Receiver of Ennis Stoppant Made at the Office of Jules S. Bache & Co.-After It's Over Me-Carren Offers a Tip on the Market. Senator McCarren settled yesterday his account with the busted brokerage firm of Ennis & Stoppani. He handed a check for $450,000 over to Receiver Lindsay Russell and received for it stock of a present market value of about $350,000. Until yesterday's meeting between the receiver and the Senator the latter's indebtedness to the firm was supposed to 19 $472,000. This included a compound interest charge of $88,000. It is underirregular, and traders of bearish disposition stood the Senator balked at this monthly "compound business" but was willing to pay a simple interest charge of 5 per cent. The receiver accepted this. There was also another reduction for dividends on the 2,500 shares of Amalgamated which the Senator had not received. The settlement was made at the office of Jules S. Bache & Co., 42 Broadway. The Senator strolled into the Bache office about 10 o'clock yesterday morning looking a little more solemn than usual. In the private office of W. J. Wollman of the Bache firm he met Receiver Russell and Ralph Wolf, his counsel. It took the Senator and the receiver only a few minutes to reach an understanding in regard to the interest charge. Then the receiver produced the stock, 2.500 shares of Amalgamated, 2,000 shares of Brooklyn Rapid Transit and 50 shares of United States Rubber first preferred. The Senator accepted the stock without asking any questions such for instance as to whether these were the actual certificates that had been originally held for his

the May Option?-It Was Especially Strong on Heavy Buying-Bullish Statistics.

Prices ran up yesterday principally on the strength of May and bullish week end statistics. Liverpool advices were also a bullish factor. They were more cheerful than expected. But the eyes of the trade and no doubt such castings may be even thicker. They could not be cut with shears or bent or united or worked or soldered after the manner sheet metal is handled or fashioned. They are not contemplated by the rules which fix the domain of the sheet metal workers. The method and skill which the work requires do not belong to the craft of the sheet metal workers, but that of the carpenters. The substitution of metal for wood does not oust the carpenters. Even though the butter on which large spot interests, were buying May. also for the reason that there was a good deal of covering of shorts. Some of the large spot interests were buying May July and October freely, and there was also not a little buying of the list by Liverpool and the South. One house, supposed the state of the large spot larg craig interests. Carpenter bought for a time. Hentz was a very heavy buyer of May. Freeman also was a large buyer. McFadden brokers were supposed to be buying May and July on a liberal scale. Others doubted this. They thought the May buying was by other interests. Other buyers included Baily, Hayden, Herklotz, Hutton, Hudson, Randolph, Seilers: Shearson, Hubbard, Schill and Chicago houses. Carpenter, Baggott & Co. were supposed to have sold heavily on the bulge, though the house is bullish for ultimate results.

Futures advanced 21 points on May and 11 to 15 on other months, closing steady, with estimated sales of 200,000 bales.

ANOTHER DROP IN WHEAT May and July Options Decline in the Chicago Market. CHICAGO, April 24.-Bears and Wall Street joined hands to-day and made the closing day of the week in the wheat pit memorable by a sensational raid which pulled the price of that cereal down 454 cents for May and 316 cents for July. This marks a decline of 11% cents for May and 11% cents for July wheat as compared with the top prices of April 15. nine days ago. While Jim Patten of wheat corner fame was brushing up agained caetus burrs down in Vermajo Park New Mexico, on his partner's ranch, all the bears in the world and the Wall Street for appear to have invaded the Chicago wheat pit. At the opening to-day there was of sellers, and the July option, which of sellers, and the July option, which closed at $1.10½ yesterday, was started off with a break of 1½ cents at $1.08½, but there were no buyers at that price. In a moment pandemonium broke loose and brokers were offering at prices which dropped rapidly in ½ cent decreases, but no sale was effected until the figure of $1.07½ was reached. Down the but no sale was elected until the name of $1.07½ was reached. Down the market went to $1.07, but just before the closing hour it rallied to $1.07%.

The May options, which yesterday sold at $1.22½, were forced down to $1.18, but gained a little toward the close, $1.13% being bid.
